Candidate Statement:

In the past, I have been involved with the LI in various roles.

Recently, as an outside observer of LI and its relationship with members, I have noticed an increasing separation between the Institute and the day-to-day activities of its members. Throughout my involvement with the LI, I have witnessed its potential to foster strong connections. However, my recent observations indicate that a significant divide is developing between the Institute and the everyday experiences of its members. Bridging this gap is essential for enhancing member engagement and reinforcing our shared mission.

In addition to ensuring landscape is a positive force for change, we must recognise the pressures placed upon it from the political drivers for growth and development.

If elected, I will strive to ensure that the broadest community is represented by the LI, and that its objectives reflect the needs of our members across the profession in the coming years.
